MONTE CARLO BILL IS DEAD.

FROST NIPS PROJECT OF TEN-DERIOIN FINANCIERS.

Senator Hausbrough, Chairman of the Senate Public Lands Committee, and Senator Depew Sald "That Will Kill It" After Reading the Article in "The Sun."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.-George F. Considine and Edward Burke, men well known at the Hotel Metropole and other places of like reputation in New York, will not have the satisfaction of setting up a Monte Carlo on West Mountain at Hot Springs, Ark The life of their half born legislation to secure the privilege of constructing a tailroad to the mountain top and erecting thereon observatories and other buildings of indefinite purpose and character ended o-day with the story in THE SUN telling who and what Considine and Burke were. The bill passed the House on Feb. 2. It will not pass the Senate. Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate Committee on Public Lands, to which the hill was referred, said, after reading what THE SEN had to say:

The bill been't been considered by the was committee yet, but, of course, this exposure

Representative Joseph Taylor Robinson of Arkensas, who introduced the measure giving Considine and Burke a railroad right of way through the Government reservation at Hot Springs, and the additional right to establish an amusement resort at the terminus of the road on West Mountain, was considerably surprised today when he learned the character of the men in whose behalf he acted. Mr. Robinson appears to have thought that he was loing a great favor to the people of Hot Springs by providing means for an amusement resort for them. "I really know little about the bill beyond what appears on its face," he said. "The people of Hot Springs have long desired to avail themselves of the advantages of West Mountain as a pleasure resort or park, but | to do this the construction of a railroad is necessary. Previous efforts to secure this improvement have all failed and the bill in nestion repeals a similar right granted to other parties.

There can be nothing of a Monte Carlo under the bill. Not a building can be erected, nor any form of amusement provided, except by the consent and approval of the Secretary of the Interior. It can hardly be expected that that official would put the Government into partnership with a gambling scheme."

Representative John F. Lacey of Iowa. chairman of the House Committee on Public Lands, who reported the Considine-Burke bill, was inclined to resent the assertion that his committee had indorsed a measure which would permit the establishment of a gambling resort at Hot Springs. He said he talk about a Monte Carlo there was all bosh, and added this explanation:

"Several people have obtained the consent of Congress to build a railroad up that hill, which is 600 feet high, with the idea of building pavilions and restaurants and making it a resort. They have never succeeded. Now come two other men, and they ask for the privilege, and the House has granted it. If they think they will conduct a gambling resort on that hill they are doomed to a rude awakening. So far as the Government is concerned, it railroad up the hill and building pavilions Then if gambling is attempted the railroad will belong to Uncle Sam. That's not a bad plan, is it?"

"Did you know the character of the men o whom this permission is granted?" Mr.

"No, I never heard of them, and I don't care what their character is. That has nothing to do with it. If they have the money to build the railroad and carry out the provisions of the bill they are welcome to try, so far as the House is concerned.

When the Considine-Burke bill was introduced more than a year ago it was referred to the Secretary of the Interior for examination. Secretary Hitchcock, under date of Jan. 27, 1904, disapproved the bill on the ground that a privilege similar to that desired by Considine and Burke had been granted to George W. Baxter and others.

On March 3, 1904, Mr. Hitchcock wrote to Chairman Lacey that Baxter had abandoned the project. In view of this situation, Mr. Hitchcock withdrew his objections to the Considine-Burke measure on condition that it should be amended in accordance with suggestions from the In-

One of these suggestions was that a section be inserted providing that "the character of the means of entertainments to be provided for the public on West Mountain should be subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior." This and the other suggestions were adopted by the House Committee on Public Lands. he House Committee on Public Lands.

Senator Chauncey M. Depaw read THE Sun's article about the Considine-Burke bill with a great deal of interest. "That settles it," said he. "The bill will never pass now."

"There ain't nothing in all this talk about starting a Monte Carlo in Hot Springs," said George Considine yesterday. "Any one that knows anything knows that the United States Government won't stand for gambling. If I and my partner ran a gambling house on that concession some ambling house on that concession some us. It ain't right to say such things

Eddle Burke and I have great plans when we get that grant of land. Our plans are all made. A well known architect of this city has made plans for us. this city has made plans for us. We intend to build a hotel about the size of the Manhattan Beach, and it will have all improvements. The incline railroad we expect to build will let people out at the entrance of the hotel. Then we are going to pipe water up to the hotel from the springs. We will run a first class place. It won't be a place for men altogether. We expect to make it a place where ladies can go, too.

In the main dining room of the hotel we are going to give a first class vaude-ville show, and in the gardens surroundville show, and in the gardens surrounding the hotel we will always have a string orchestra. Those plans don't bound as if we were going to start a Monte Carlo there, do they? If we wanted to do any gambling there we'd go across the way from our property. There we wouldn't be on Government ground."

FLORIDA'S FAMOUS TRAINS,

MILLION STEEL BONUS Will Go to Fully 5,000 Employees of U. S. Steel Corporation.

The United States Steel Corporation, it is understood, added 500,000 tons in January to its orders on hand. At the close of the December quarter the corporation reported unfilled orders of 4,696,203 tons, which, with the January orders, brings the total up to about 5,200,000 tons, or within 200,000 tons of the corporation's record of 5,410,719 of unfilled orders.

The cash bonus of about $1,000,000 which the Steel Corporation will distribute among its employees is expected to benefit fully 5,000 of the company's men, including heads of departments, foremen, clerks, furnace men and so on into the ranks of the steel workmen. If the amount were divided equally, each man would receive about $200. but the division will be arranged on the basis of salaries or wages.

The American Smelting and Refining Company, which also distributed a cash bonus to its employees at the end of the last fiscal year, is expected to follow the example of the Steel Corporation and make another distribution this year. The smelting company inquired of Mr. Carnegie as to the best way to interest employees in the business of the company, and his reply

"Let them participate in the earnings of the company; then they feel that they are not only salaried men, but are in reality copartners, and that everything they do for the company they also do directly for their

PLUNDER FOUND IN STORAGE.

EIGHT ALLEGED FLAT ROBBERS ROUNDED UP.

Harlem Police Cet 800 Pieces of Silver, Dresses. Jewelry and Pictures Cut Out of Frames Sudden Move After

The police of the East 126th street station found yesterday in a storage warehouse stolen property which they appraise at $10,000. They also arrested several young men who, they say, have been looting Harlem houses and flats for months past.

The robberies were frequent and the police streve hard to get track of the thieves, but for months could not locate them.

The residence of Thomas Lloyd at 2028 Lexington avenue was robbed about ten days ago of $500 worth of clothing, jewelry and silverware. A gang of young toughs made a hangout of a poolroom run by Edward Schaeffer at 125th street and Third avenue. When the Lloyd robbery was reported, Capt. Burns told Detectives Teevens and Sullivan to look the place over. He said he was convinced that some of the thieves would be found there. The detectives went, but the men they were looking for could not be found. Teevens in looking around the place came across a bundle of clothing which looked suspicious. When Schaeffer could not give a satisfactory account of it he was arrested.

Schaeffer was put through the "third degree." As a result, John Wesley, alias "Hall," of 2711 Eighth avenue, was arrested. He would not talk, but the sleuths next learned that he had a brother, Benjamin Hall, living at 424 East 126th street. When they went to search his home yesterday they were told by the janitor that Hall had moved away. They traced his effects to a storage warehouse on the east side of Harlem, and there they found two large Saratoga trunks filled with stolen goods. The st of the property includes nearly 800 pieces of solid silverware, jewelry, silk dresses, kid gloves, vases, lace curtains and valuable paintings. The paintings had been cut from the frames. After the stuff had een laid out last night in the captain's coom it looked like a section of an art museum.

Some of the silverware had the name Lloyd on it, and there were a lot of silver spoons with the letter M on them. There are several rings and bracelets which had evidently been set with diamonds or other valuable stones. The stones had been removed. Capt. Burns said last night that he had arrested eight of the gang, and the detectives went out to look for two more, all that remained.

FOUND LOOT AND PROBABLE LOOT. Central Office detectives arrested John Tierney, alias Sweeney, late Sunday night in his room at 92 Amsterdam avenue, on a charge of having robbed the apartments of 155 West Sixty-sixth street, on Jan. 19.

Graveline's apartments were entered when he and the family were out, and $750 worth of property, mostly jewelry, and a small white poodle dog were taken. Persons in the house saw a stranger leave the apartments, carrying with him a leather hat case. It is supposed that he had the poodle in the case. Graveline thought more of the poodle than he did of the jewelry and advertised a standing reward of $50 for the return of the dog. It was found

Some of the silverware bore the initials "C. L.," others "C. R." and some "E. P." in the apartment of Carrie Lacock of 247 52 West Sixty-fifth street. These burglaries have been reported to the police within the last month or so.

Capt. O'Brien says that Tierney served neglected to state who he was, and the man ten years in State prison for burglary and was released only a few months ago. The prisoner was arraigned in court yesterday

Mrs. Hayes then quoted from the book written by her mother, in which the widow of Jefferson Davis tells the story of her husband's imprisonment. Mrs. Hayes waxed indignant when she told of the manacles placed on her father.

"It required six men to overpower him." said Mrs. Haves, "and he asked that he be shot before being subjected to such an indignity. These irons were placed upon him at the instigation of Gen. Miles. Grand Ducal Party Convinced That Time Has Come to Yield?

Defeat of Gen. Gripenberg Said to Have Caused a Change of View in Russian Capital-Ambassadors at Paris and London Reported Carryin; On Negotiations-Conferences in Washington With Secretary of State Hay Indicate That Movement of Importance in Far , Eastern Affairs Is Under Way.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 7 .- The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Chronicle asserts that Gen. Gripenberg's reverse and the apparent impossibility of gaining a victory over the Japanese have caused the Grand Ducal party to review the situation, with the result that it has decided in favor of peace. The announcement that Gen. Kuropatkin might be recalled was really started in late Governor General Bobrikoff was due order that negotiations to terminate the war might be facilitated.

The correspondent says he knows that the Russian representatives in Paris have been instructed to take whatever steps they deem advisable to secure the good will of Great Britain, with the object of obtaining the most favorable terms from Japan. Count Benckendorff, the Russian Ambassador at London, was in St. Petersburg last week in connection with the situation, and he was similarly instructed.

For the first time since the war commenced the Russian Government on Monday stopped overland telegraphic communication with the Far East. Shipowners who telegraphed to Vladivostok making inquiries concerning their steamers had their messages returned marked, "Wires under the control of the Russian Government." The lines affected are the Great Northern Company's by way of Siberia and Manchuria. It is stated that no messages for the East have been transmitted by this line from St. Petersburg for several hours. One inference is that the strike, which was lately reported to have spread to Ir-Cabinet whose resignations, tendered a kutsk, Krasnowarsk, Tomsk and elsewhere in Siberia, has become serious. Another inference is that some war movement is afoot necessitating constant communication

GEN. GRIPENBERG IS OUT.

Quarrel With Kdropatkin Results in His

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—The question of the acceptance of Gen. Kuropatkin's resignation was considered to-day, but the difficulty caused by the General's dissension was solved by the acceptance of the resignation of Gen. Gripenberg.

The same widespread and high placed influences which agitated for Gen. patkin's removal after the battle of Liaoyang are now endeavoring to induce the Emperor to accept his tendered resignation. It is suggested that either Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch, a cousin of the Emperor, who commands the Russian cavalry; Gen. Sakharoff, Minister of War, or Gen. Linievitch, commanding the First Army in Manchuria, be appointed to succeed Gen. Kuropatkin as Commander-in-Chief. Gen. Kuropatkin reports that a Japanese movement upon Tatay was repulsed to-day the Russians fear an attack on Harbin In the direction of the Sha River the Rus sians continue to make attacks in small force and keep up their bombardment of the Japanese centre and right. Their aftacks upon the Japanese left, west of the Hun, are more determined. But all have
